

113 / Monsoon Breeze - my experience

Dear Friends,

Today I am sharing my experience with you. Yesterday evening when most of you were either in your office or returning home, I was on the jogging track for my evening walk. Weather was cool and steady without breeze. Sun was up in the sky. Shadows of evening were lengthening the ground. Monsoon was expected. I just recorded cool video. (Follow the Link <http://is.gd/cJCdx> - Monsoon evening).

I completed my quota of rounds on the track and rested for a while, looking at the lake. I saw one crane having finished the bath was busy drying his body. I captured the scene in my video. (Follow the Link <http://is.gd/cJCgM> - Crane).

Little later, wind started blowing suddenly. Wind speed must be over 100 mph. I was waiting for this opportunity to capture breeze in my video. (Refer the Link <http://is.gd/cJCcf> - Monsoon Breeze).

I finished the recording and looked at the quite sky and I saw few cranes returning home by making formation of V. I just flashed my video at the sky and tried to capture the Cranes flying in V shape. Due to sun in the sky I could not centre my mobile but managed some how. (Refer the Link <http://is.gd/cJCfl> -Team work). Also refer the ppt uploaded on Link <http://is.gd/cJUIO> for what we can learn from this typical V formation of flying.

As I finished the shooting, my mobile rang. My partner had called up for some discussion. I shared my above experience with him after our official discussion. He enquired about rain as it was raining in Fort area. I told him that heavy breeze drove the monsoon clouds and sun has come out. I promised to send him the Video Links. I told him that big rainbow is up in the sky and after we finish the call, I would take snap of the rainbow. Somehow our talk was too long and the rainbow got vanished. I missed the opportunity. Having got the opportunity to record 4 videos in a row in a short span of 30 minutes, it was a perfect justice. When you get the things easily, you happen to crave for more.

Friends, it was a wonderful experience and hence I thought of sharing with you all. I am sure that you will undergo the same experience while watching the videos either in your office or at residence. I am eagerly waiting for your comments on spandane2008@gmail.com.
