

Dear Dad

I am sending this open letter since I don't know your exact address ever since you left this world way back when I was very young studying in a college.

I am writing this letter specifically to thank you for the few GIFTS given by you.

First Gift was of the good qualities such as sincerity, honesty, involvement, dedication, high moral values etc. I have not only preserved these qualities against all odds but sharpened them further.

Second Gift was of providing accommodation. Initially I tried to purchase new flat but considering the economic situation that time I left the thought of purchasing new flat. I decided to keep the flat and enjoyed my stay with wife & kids. Instead I purchased a second home.

I knew about your third Gift but did not open it. However over the years the wrapper was damaged and I had no alternative but to accept it as a part of my fate. In a way it is good. At least 'Count down' has begun. Well I am not blaming you for this Gift but I personally feel that no body would like to receive such a Gift. I tried my level best to reject this Gift but was helpless and today I am accepting it under protest. For recording any victory, you need efforts, desire (ability & willingness) but ultimately the 'Luck factor' has the final say in the matter. Any way I take this as one more opportunity to fight against odds. (Although I am tired of fighting)

What else? How are you?

Relationship means to HELP without HESITATION, to GIVE without EXPECTATION, to LOVE without LIMITATION & to REMEMBER even without COMMUNICATION.

You may not believe but I have saved all your memories in my mind. Your Life Philosophy still inspires & offers solution to me in case of need.

Take care. Bye!!!
